Carmel Booth Will Hang Up Her Gloves For Good Tonight

BY BRYCE W. ANDERSON

The battler hangs up her gloves tonight.

Carmel Booth will attend her last meeting of the San Anselmo City Council starting at 8 o'clock tonight in the city hall. She will tender her resignation during the meeting, she said today.

It won't be the first time Mrs. Booth has quit, but this time it will be for keeps. She and her husband, painter James E. Booth, have sold their home at 25 Pasadena Avenue in the Hub City and purchased a home on Keeling Road in Nice, Lake County. The deal was scheduled to be closed today. The Booths are already packing to move.

"Naturally, I'm leaving with a heavy heart," said Mrs. Booth. "But I'll be glad to at last find peace. Thirty years of battling is enough."

Mrs. Booth was guilty of understatement—a rare thing for her. The battling probably started more than 30 years ago. For Mrs. Booth is now 56, and she's been a fighter since "knee high."

As a girl, she learned to box —and became enough of an expert to call in advance exactly how Rocky Castellani would be decked by Bobo Olson when they met for the middle-weight championship at the Cow Palace in 1954.

"Keep that left hand up!" she warned Rocky as she watched him in a sparring session. "Your wide open for a right cross."

He didn't do it, and an Olson right cross put him out of the picture.

"I boxed myself," confessed Mrs. Booth. "My father said such a thing just wasn't for girls and broke my nose to prove it."

The father was Samuel Kasser. He and his wife, Nora, moved their family of six children from San Francisco to San Rafael when Carmel was 14, to take over operation of Schutzen Park—an amusement park which later became California Park and is now the site

Stop Kennedy Drive Looks Hopeless

Speculation Starts
On Who Will Get
2nd Spot On Ticket

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Never-say-die backers of Adlai E. Stevenson and Lyndon B. Johnson rallied today for a final desperate attempt to snatch the Democratic presidential nomination from Sen. John F. Kennedy's grasp.

Their cause looked hopeless. Kennedy was so confident of an easy first-ballot victory that he already was trying to pick a running-mate from a field that prominently included Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri and Gov. Orville L. Freeman of Minnesota.

But Kennedy's rivals refused to concede. With one full day of maneuvering time left before the balloting begins tomorrow, Johnson summoned newsmen to a press conference to issue a debate challenge to Kennedy.

The Massachusetts senator has accepted the challenge.

Aides said Johnson "definitely" was not planning to withdraw from the race.

The draft-Stevenson forces generated by Sen. Mike Monroney of Oklahoma also were still alive and kicking.

Monroney accused the Kennedy camp of spreading a false rumor that Stevenson had agreed to withdraw and place Kennedy's name in nomination.

"I am assured by Gov. Stevenson that this rumor is utterly unfounded," Monroney said. "Gov. Stevenson's name will be placed in nomination."

Monroney insisted that the Kennedy camp's delegate claims were inflated and that there was still a "real chance" that Stevenson would be the nominee.

The latest United Press International count of committed delegates and known first-ballot preferences gave Kennedy 743½ votes, just 17½ short of the 761 required for nomination.

The tally gave Johnson 407 votes, Symington 78, and Stevenson 65½ with the remaining 227 votes still uncommitted or pledged to favorite sons.

Proposed Platform Is Strong And Specific

By CHAPIN A. DAY

LOS ANGELES—One of the strongest and most specific platforms ever to be put before a National Democratic Convention was being handed to the delegates this afternoon.

"For me as a liberal, it is one of the most exciting documents I've ever seen," declared Mrs. Nancy Swadesh of Mill Valley, a member of the committee which constructed it.

The platform was to be presented to the convention by Rep. Chester Bowles of Connecticut. Here are some of the things it contains:

1. The strongest civil rights plank in the history of the party. Passed by a 68-to-22 vote as were all issues touching on civil rights, the plank includes establishment of a Fair Employment Practices Act, federal powers of intervention in school integration and to protect voting rights, and approval of orderly demonstrations such as the recent "sit in" activities of Negroes in the South.

"I'd like to say," declared Mrs. Elizabeth Smith of Kent Woodlands, California National Committeewoman, "that Sen. John Kennedy doesn't want one line of the civil rights plank altered." But some of the members of the platform committee do. Nine southern states and Wyoming are going to submit a "moderate" civil rights plank to the convention as a minority report.

FOREIGN POLICY

2. The foreign policy plank has a double approach. It proposes increased spending on national defense, so the United States can deal with communism from a position of strength, while at the same time urging a positive approach to ending the armament race.

The plank calls for studies of the technical problems and economic effects of disarmament, effort toward permanent suspension of nuclear tests, the establishment of a National Peace Agency, and repeal of the Connally Amendment which ties the hands of the World Court.

The plank also calls for emphasis on improving U. S. foreign service and the men sent to represent us abroad.

It pledges anew support of the people of Formosa, but fails to include the off-shore islands of Quemoy and Matsu. There is no call for recognition of Red China now, but an urgent appeal to find a way to come to agreement with the Chinese so we may again reach the people of that nation.

3. In civil liberties, it calls for the right of every man to face his accuser and an end to loyalty oaths.

4. The approach to agriculture is that our ability to produce food is an asset, not a liability. It calls for development of programs to help small farmers and the establishment of a world food bank to which our surpluses can go after our defense needs are met. It pic-

Marinites Join In Bustle Of Demo Parley

I-J SPECIAL REPORT

LOS ANGELES—More than half a score Marin residents, in addition to those officially participating, have come to Los Angeles to be present at the 33rd convention of the Democratic Party.

Some, like Bennett Skewes-Cox of Ross, chairman of the California Democratic Council's foreign policy unit, came with hope to influence the party platform. Others like, Gerald Hill of Mill Valley, were serving the California delegation as door guards at closed sessions or in similar capacities.

But most of them came just to be in the scurry and bustle of party politics and to get the thrill of being present when decisions were being made.

Other Marinites here in Los Angeles include: Mr. and Mrs. Harold Watkins of Kent Woodlands, Virginia Jennings of Ross, Dr. Louis Wasserman of Mill Valley, Mrs. Edith Hathaway of Mill Valley, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Roberts of Corte Madera, Peter Diffley of San Rafael and Lee V. Holman of Mill Valley.

Storm Scout

tures a change in our overseas bases from military to food distribution centers.

At the insistence of the northern states, the agriculture plank calls for 90 per cent of parity payment to farmers, but "the feeling was generally held, even by the northerners, that price supports are passe," declared Mrs. Swadesh.

PLANNING AGENCY

5. The platform urges establishment of a National Planning Agency, advocates loans to redevelop slums and for urban renewal, urges municipalities to acquire surplus federal lands for greenbelts, parks and recreational lands where feasible.

6. It proposes revision of the rules of the house of representatives so the seniority system of committee control will lose some of its effectiveness.

One plank proposed for the platform by Roger Kent of Kent woodlands went down to defeat. This would have made State Central Committee chairmen members of the Democratic National Committee.

Kent, who said he had widespread support for the plan outside the committee, said he may carry the matter to the floor of the convention this evening.

FAMILY PUTS 2,000 MILES A MONTH ON CORVAIR THINKS IT'S MARVELOUS GAS MILEAGE "OUT OF THIS WORLD"

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kahelin of Plant City, Florida, couldn't be happier with the way their new Corvair has worked out as a combination family and business car. On their newspaper distribution route alone they travel more than 400 miles a week over all kinds of roads. Little wonder they're so pleased with the gas mileage they've been getting—"at least twenty-three miles to the gallon with an automatic transmission . . . and we've had no trouble with our Corvair." The Kahelins have equally good things to say about Corvair's easy-going comfort and unique convenience features. They especially like the way the fold-down seat doubles as a built-in baby sitter.

BOOTH

of Marin Motor Movies. Carmel attended eighth grade at E School in the same class with Judge N. Charles Brusatori. After her marriage to James Booth, she moved to San Anselmo. There she turned her propensity for battling to politics.

NEW SWEEPER

In 1946, she saw a new street sweeper moving along San Anselmo streets. She'd been attending a city council meeting, and heard nothing about purchase of a street sweeper. It turned out the sweeper had been ordered after it was demonstrated to a city council member during a trip to Los Angeles.

Fire in her eyes, Mrs. Booth opened a campaign. Two years later, she was elected to the city council.

She was elected again in 1950. Two years later, after serving both as mayor, she resigned from the city council to run against William D. Fuselman for county supervisor. He beat her then, and again four years later.

In '54 she ran for council again and topped the list.

On July 9, 1957, at 12:45 a.m. of a long and bitter council meeting, Mrs. Booth declared, "I've had it! I resign as of now." But the following spring, she was again a candidate—and was again elected.

During her years on the council, many an opponent thought Mrs. Booth, like Rocky Castellani, might be a sucker for a right cross (or left hook, or even a rabbit punch). After they figuratively picked themselves up off the floor, they generally had a different notion. Though the battling was verbal, it was often bitter.

WOOD ROW

On her first election to city council, Mayor Arthur W. Smith named her police commissioner. She promptly tried to oust Police Chief Donald T. Wood for alleged malfeasance in office. She lost that battle—also the police commissionership.

The police department was the arena of another loss for her last year, when she tried unsuccessfully to have Asst. Chief Sam N. Serio appointed chief on Wood's retirement. The appointment went to Sgt. Raymond R. Buchignani after an examination (which Serio did not take). But Mrs. Booth has supported "Buck" consistently in his role as chief.

Back in '48, Mayor Smith accused Mrs. Booth of keeping council and police department in turmoil by her feud with Wood. On July 25, 1957, then ex-Councilman Booth was honored by the San Anselmo Policemen's Protective Assn. with a gold-plated lifetime honorary membership badge—the first ever given. Don Wood pinned on the badge, which is probably Mrs. Booth's most treasured possession.

"Never before has it been fitting to amend the constitution and by-laws," to permit membership of other than a regular police officer, said Wood, "but through her individual efforts, San Anselmo has a good police department."

And this year found ex-Mayor Smith an ally of Mrs. Booth as a two-man minority on the city council.

CIVIL DEFENSE

Civil defense is one of Mrs. Booth's prime interests. She was a daytime air warden and night-time civil defense captain (the only woman in the latter role) in San Anselmo during World War II. She also served in the Army Air Forces aircraft warning service.

As civil defense director for San Anselmo, she refused to go along with what she called unrealistic and "stupid" plans for civilian evacuation, but saw

Rouse May Be Named To Hub Council

Robert E. Rouse, who missed election to the San Anselmo City Council by two votes in April, likely will be appointed to fill out the council term of Mrs. Carmel Booth, who plans to resign tonight.

Mayor William Franchini said he had not yet talked with other council members regarding the appointment—in fact, had not been informed that Mrs. Booth was resigning. But he said, "I think without question it will be Rouse."

Rouse and John M. Reichmuth ran for the city council as candidates of San Anselmo Citizens for Good Government, opposing incumbent Arthur W. Smith and Henry J. (Beck) Regalia. Smith wound up high man, with Reichmuth beating Rouse by only two votes for the second vacancy.

to it that the city had its civil defense organization always ready to function, and medical supplies stored ready for use.

Another prime interest has been the county hospital and farm in Lucas Valley. Mrs. Booth worked as a volunteer there from 1931 through 1958.

VOLUNTEER SERVICE

She also has been active in the Marin County Humane Society, in which she holds a life membership. And she has been Marin chairman for the National Tuberculosis Assn.

Christmas seal drive—in which she takes especial interest because she has herself an arrested case of tuberculosis.

There have been few dull meetings of the San Anselmo City Council with Mrs. Booth among the members. The scars of her many battles are inscribed in the minutes of meetings running back over a decade.

As she hangs up her gloves tonight, she's still unbeaten. Nobody could figure the right cross to make her a sucker.

Jobless Increase Reported In June

WASHINGTON UP — Unemployment rose by nearly one million in June as record numbers of summer job-seekers poured from school into the labor market, the Labor Department announced today.

But unprecedented numbers of them found work quickly, with the result that total employment soared by 1,400,000 to 68,579,000, the highest level in history.

This was about one million greater than a year ago. The comparison excludes Alaska and Hawaii, which were not counted in the Bureau of Labor Statistics tabulation last year. The over-all labor force, civil-

Some southerners, like Gov. Ernest Vandiver of Georgia, accused pro-Kennedy northern liberals of trying to drive the south out of the party. But Gov. Lindsay Almond of Virginia voiced hope that the southern delegations would not stage a walkout.

"There is such a thing as repudiating the platform and supporting the candidate," Almond said.

episode to wreck the May summit conference.

The administration reacted quite differently yesterday when the Soviet Union announced it had shot down an Air Force reconnaissance plane missing in the arctic since July 1.

Moscow accused this country of another violation of its frontiers. In reporting the plane missing earlier this month, the U.S. said it had been on a scientific mission, checking on magnetic fields off the coasts of Norway and the Soviet Union.

Moscow said two of the crew had parachuted and would be prosecuted "with the full severity of Soviet law." The other four members are dead or missing.

Khrushchev claimed the surviving crewmen of the American plane—1st Lt. John R. McCone, 38, of Tonganoxie, Kan., and 1st Lt. Freeman B. Olmstead, 24, of Elmira, N.Y.—had admitted their plane was to have flown along the northern frontiers of the Soviet Union on an espionage mission.

Khrushchev said he thought the Soviet Union would take the matter of the RB-47 to the United Nations—first to the Security Council and then to the General Assembly.

Khrushchev said the Soviet government had delayed 11 days in announcing that the RB-47 had been shot down in order to see what alibis the United States would come up with.

In London, Prime Minister Harold Macmillan firmly supported today the agreement which allows U.S. military planes to use British bases. But he said he is talking with Eisenhower about modifications.

He told the House of Commons that "occasional mistakes" have occurred in the operation of the agreement but that the broad principle of the cooperative arrangement is essential for the deterrent strength of the West.

Macmillan spoke after dinging in San Quentin Prison's gas chamber May 2 that Charles S. Terranova was the real kidnapper who 12 years ago preyed on couples parked in lovers' lanes in the Los Angeles area.

Marin pioneers chose this secluded spot nearly 90 years ago—a place of natural beauty, of peace and dignity to honor their loved ones.

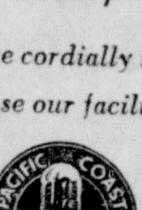

This character of Mount Tamalpais Cemetery has not changed. Nor shall it change through the years.

For the lasting care of this property—its trees, lawns and gardens—is assured by a generous ($250,000) and ever-growing Endowment Fund that is double the legal requirement. And with less than one-tenth of its acreage utilized, Mount Tamalpais Cemetery will be long able to serve the growing Marin County communities.

There is much to see here of inspiration and beauty. Every faith is served and every type of final resting place is available to meet every family budget; ground interment, mausoleum, entombment and cremation.

Educator, Humane Leader

Mrs. Muriel McCrum, 66, retired vice principal of Sir Francis Drake High School, died of a cerebral hemorrhage at her Indian Valley Road home in Novato yesterday.

A teacher for 45 years, Mrs. McCrum taught mathematics at Tamalpais High School for 25 years. She left Tamalpais High when Sir Francis Drake was built and was vice principal there for six years. She retired two years ago.

The vice presidential race was proceeding at a gallop on the assumption that Kennedy's nomination was assured.

Symington, who still was technically a candidate for president, had powerful backing from big state delegations, including New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania, for second spot on the ticket.

Gov. Michael V. DiSalle of Ohio proclaimed at a news conference that a Kennedy-Symington ticket would be "ideal." He stressed the need for a man with Symington's "national prominence" to beef up the ticket.

Freeman was being pushed by Sen. Hubert H. Humphreys of Minnesota and an assorted group of liberals from various states.

Mrs. McCrum was a director of the Marin County Humane Society and a member of the Novato Presbyterian Church.

Besides her husband, she is survived by a brother, William L. Webb of Verona, N.J.

BRUSSELS (AP)—The Congolese government has asked the United States to send troops to the Congo to help restore order, the Belgian radio said today.

The U. S. ambassador in Leopoldville, Clare Timberlake, has given agreement in principle and will transmit the request to Washington.

The decision to request U. S. troops was reached at a meeting of the Congolese government this morning, the broadcast said. U. S. troops have been on the alert in Germany several days, awaiting a possible call to the Congo.

The government of the strife-torn young republic earlier asked the United Nations to intervene to restore order.

The United States Monday said the decision on whether they would be used was up to the U. N.

Moscow charged today that the U. S. and other Western powers were in "a monstrous" plot to take away the young Congo republic's independence.

The Congolese government acted as it faced the possibility of losing its richest province, Katanga in the southeast.

Premier Moise Tshombe of Katanga, accusing the Congolese government of using Communist methods, said yesterday he had set up a state independent of the central government in Leopoldville.

Tshombe said he would welcome aid from other countries of the free world if the Belgians do not support his secession from Premier Patrice Lumumba's central government in Leopoldville.

Tshombe accused Lumumba of using Communist tactics and promoting chaos.

"After elections, which were falsified in certain provinces . . . a central government based on an extremist majority has been created," Tshombe said.

At least 12 Europeans and scores of Africans have been reported killed in the army mutiny that followed Congo independence 12 days ago.

The Congo army mutiny spread to Elisabethville Sunday. Native troops besieged several hundred Europeans in a hotel and killed eight Europeans, including the Italian consul.

A European official reported by telephone from Elisabethville today that the Belgian army was in full control of the city.

Katanga, in the eastern Congo, is about the size of Arizona and Utah combined and has a population of more than 1,300,000. It produces about 60 to 70 per cent of the new nation's wealth. Its mainstays are copper, uranium and other minerals.

At Accra in Ghana, American refugees told of fear that gripped Leopoldville when drunken Congolese soldiers roamed the streets and menaced the populace.

Mrs. Helen Solario, Mexican-born wife of an official at the U. S. embassy at Leopoldville, said, "Now that all the tension is away from us, I'm exhausted." Her husband remained in the Congo capital.

"We couldn't get out of our house all week," she said. "There were groups of drunken soldiers wandering around the streets with bayonets and machine guns."

In Kenya, radio messages from the Congo told of trapped Americans and other whites standing off African mutineers.

A ham radio operator said he picked up a message from a station called "Whitehouse" in Mabongo, near Luluabourg, which said 70 Americans, including women and children, were trapped there.

The message said the Americans could not reach Luluabourg, which was reported in the hands of the African mutineers.

Legion Post Backs Veteran Fund For Hall

Reversing its stand taken several months ago, Mill Valley Post 284, American Legion, last night approved transfer of county veterans' memorial funds to enlarge the county's juvenile hall.

This is the second veterans group to give approval within a week. Muir Woods Post 6741, Veterans of Foreign Wars, voted to approve the transfer last Thursday.

Supervisor William D. Fusselman made an appeal at the meeting for the fund transfer. He was introduced by George W. Hall, former county assessor.

"I have no objection to the district but it's untenable to tie the organization of one to me as a condition," said he in applying for architectural supervision of an eight-unit apartment for which he already has a use permit.

"I'll abandon this if the burden is put on me to form such a district. Anybody from this side of the hill is at a disadvantage as compared with the local population," said Hendrickson.

On motion of Commissioner Margaret Azevedo the application was granted with conditions relating to parking.

They came application by Hendrickson for a use permit for a 10-unit apartment house on the same sized lot almost across the street, and with it came several written protests.

Apartment Proposal At Stinson Approved

Not only did Mrs. Helen C. Latham object to spoiling "the peace and quiet" of the street, and George P. Leonard to "too much development," but the latter sent another protest as president of the Stinson Beach Water Co.

Resources of the water company, said the latter letter, "are not up to such development."

However, Commissioner George Scott moved to approve on a 10-unit basis and the proposal passed 5-1, with Dr. William Upton absent and Commissioner Azevedo saying, "I'd vote for eight units but not for 10."

Consideration of an application for architectural supervision of the second apartment building was continued until Aug. 18 on request of Hendrickson.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL

Boat Accident Figures Call For Safe Operators

April 1 this year a new state law went into effect setting up uniform boating regulations throughout California. One of these regulations required reporting of accidents.

The first three-month summation by the Division of Small Craft Harbors makes serious reading.

In those three months, only the start of the boating season really, certainly not its peak, there were 17 deaths and 71 injuries. That's more injuries and nearly as many deaths as were reported for all of 1959 in hunting accidents.

Neither the boating fraternity nor the public can shrug off these statistics, because it is only the beginning. Boating is experiencing a tremendous spurt of popularity. But it is destined for much more.

Right now there are an estimated 350,000 boat owners in the state. Less than two thirds of them have even bothered to register their boats as required by the new law.

One hundred and 85 boats were involved in 118 reportable accidents in the three months. And of these only a handful were caused by mechanical failure. Mostly it was poor or unsafe operation of the boats.

You see there is no regulation on who may pilot a small boat. It doesn't matter how old or young, how experienced or inexperienced. Anyone is a pilot—or at least he can take a boat out.

Nearly half of the boats involved in accidents were runabouts, the small high speed type of craft. Cruisers and sailboats were involved about a sixth of the accidents each. Only two were row-boats.

Twenty-eight crashes were blamed on faulty operations, 19 on inexperienced operators and a dozen on trying to operate a boat in hazardous waters. Ten were caused by the wakes of other boats and 15 were blamed on too high speed. Only six were caused by machinery failure and just four on equipment failure.

So you can see its the boat operators who must shoulder the major part of the blame and responsibility. It's up to you to see that you are safe and that those around you are safe too.

AN EMBARRASSING FORGETFULNESS

After students had waited in vain for their professor to show up for his lecture they phoned his home.

His family couldn't throw any light on the subject and said he had left for his class sometime before.

A quick search found him in another campus building. He sheepishly admitted that he had completely forgotten about the class. This proved especially embarrassing since the title of his lecture was: "Memory and Forgetfulness."

All sorts of human weaknesses can conspire to prevent us from fulfilling our responsibilities. We hurt even our own best interests by failing to put the noble principles we advocate into practice.

In the home, classroom, shop and every other place, make a special effort to practice what you preach. You will accomplish much good and will be blessed by both God and man.

Utility Pole Put In View Window

EDITOR,

Independent-Journal:

Henry Calvin's letter in tonight's (July 6) paper was very close to home. I've had a letter in typewriter two weeks to you and not sending because I wondered if you would print it.

We enlarged a room in our location and view of Mt. Tam, trying to plan so that two existing telephone poles would be minimized when looking at view, only to come home from work one afternoon to find a huge new pole right in the center of our window.

protest, an individual doesn't stand much chance with a utility company, found there were several alternatives that could be done. One costly but we were willing to help bear a reasonable cost, however, we never did get a price from them. The others less costly and could have been accomplished had the companies involved been sufficiently interested in one individual.

I'll go a little further than Mr. Calvin, not only be on the watch for new installations, but for the citizens of Marin to start the pressure necessary for new installations to be underground.

Woman Given Assessment Relief

EDITOR,

Independent-Journal:

This is in reference to letter to the editor by Mrs. Clare Thompson, published in your paper July 5, regarding her personal property assessment.

On June 30, during her visit to our office, it was pointed out that the resulting increase of $10 assessed valuation, when applied to the tax rate applicable for the 1959-60 assessment year, would be 73c. This was set forth simply to illustrate the small degree of change that resulted from our assumption that additional storage area contained additional personal property. The purpose of this illustration was explained to her.

She was assured that the correction in the assessed value of the personal property for 1960-61 to the assessed value ($110) effective for 1959-60 would immediately be made.

It is noted on the 1960-61 assessment roll, as delivered to the County Clerk on July 1, that this correction was made on June 30, 1960. This was the date of Mrs. Thompson's visit to our office. Time did not permit written confirmation.

Passage Of Billion Dollar Water Bonds Will Assure Baby's Bath

SACRAMENTO (CNS)—Edmund G. Brown once remarked that he would do almost anything to get the $1.750,000 water bond issue passed this November, when the people of California will be called upon to adopt or reject the huge expenditure for the disbursement of Northern California's water to Southern California.

IN ANY EVENT, when Governor Brown said he would do most anything to get his water program adopted by the people, he really meant what he said.

As a result, the governor is using the halls of the California State Capitol for the advertisement of his wares.

JUST OUTSIDE the door of the governor's sumptuous suite of offices in the Capitol annex, the State Department of Water Resources has erected a multi-paneled exhibit, which is directed toward convincing the thousands of tourists who visit the Capitol each day, that an affirmative vote for the water bond issue will be a good thing for California.

Two of the panels are directed to recreation, one showing a couple of attractive lovelies on a lake wharf, and the other a fisherman, presumably casting in an artificial lake.

THEN THERE IS an impressive picture of industry, which the water program is supposed to benefit. The picture, of course, is a gasoline plant, which always is an impressive sight, with smoke rolling out of the stacks, and steam blowing from various outlets.

But the climax of all the pictures on the advertising panel is the subject used to depict the domestic functions of water from the Feather River.

This is a shot of a baby getting a bath, in all places, the kitchen sink!

Sanitary conditions at newly acquired Stinson Beach Park property were declared "deplorable" in a report from the Marin County Health Committee to the board of supervisors. The beach was a virtual swamp covered with rocks and silt, the report said.

if the water shortage were so great that it was necessary to wash the baby first and then the dishes, or vice versa, depending on how mama felt that day.

IN ANY EVENT, when Governor Brown said he would do most anything to get his water program adopted by the people, he really meant what he said.

While the cost of the exhibit is not large, probably under $1,000, the display of state advertising in a state building for a controversial ballot proposition may be somewhat in bad taste. It is a certainty that not all of the people of California are for the bond issue.

But at least if it passes, there may be enough water to turn the kitchen sink into a baby bath!

Write A Smug Column, Before It's Published You're In Trouble

Last week this column carried the story of what happens after a collision on the highways, after we came upon a smashup only seconds after it happened.

There was an inherent smugness in the writing, after nine years of driving without citation for a moving violation. Parking tickets, yes, and a bent bumper in downtown city rush traffic.

But being blessed with a calm nature and a car which won't go more than 50 without protesting (at 55, it whines; at 60, there are moans of protest; at 65, it cries bitter tears) there had never been any moving violation tickets.

THE COLUMN was written on Friday. On Monday we got our first moving violation ticket; the column was published on Tuesday.

The cop says the light was "full red" and he says I was driving only about 15 miles per hour. It was early morning, on the way to work.

Last week's column closed with:

"Maybe if you see enough (accidents) you slow down, think a little more." I was slow—I wasn't thinking as I went through the red light in San Rafael.

The other driver was, coming in the opposite direction. He stopped just short of bashing me broadside as I puttered through the light.

The police car was sitting right at the corner; he only had to blink the red light once. "Almost caused a good accident there," was the only comment we exchanged.

I'm not smug any more. I'll see you in court, as the funny men say.

NOVATO is looking for a chief to take over policing the new city. If you look at just the preliminary application, was explained to her.

She was assured that the correction in the assessed value of the personal property for 1960-61 to the assessed value ($110) effective for 1959-60 would immediately be made.

It is noted on the 1960-61 assessment roll, as delivered to the County Clerk on July 1, that this correction was made on June 30, 1960. This was the date of Mrs. Thompson's visit to our office. Time did not permit written confirmation.

AND HE IS ASKED: "If it became necessary in the course of your police duties to take a human life, would you have any reluctance to do so because of religious or other beliefs?"

Then come the tests.

And in the end, most of his contacts with the public will be handling complaints and gripes.

Little Chance Of Breakup Of Our Europe Alliances; Asia Different

nuclear war, and our allies the world around have demanded a sincere effort to relax the tension.

These basic interests of the U.S.S.R. and the U.S.A. have not been changed. That is why, in one way or another, the search for a detente will be resumed.

However, it will be a long time, a year at the minimum, before the broken bridge between the two worlds can be repaired. I wish I could think that time will be on our side during this year and that in this intermission when genuine diplomatic relations are suspended, our position will grow relatively stronger.

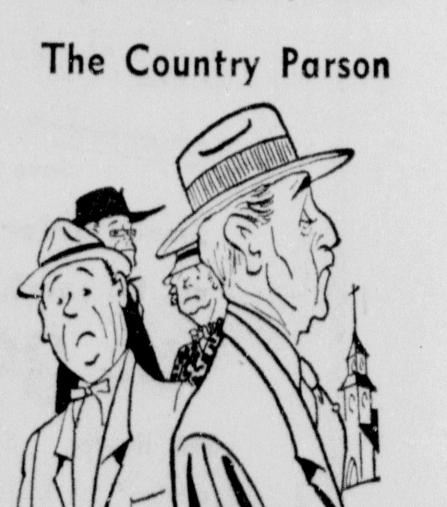

There is, however, no reason whatever to think that the alliance in Europe will disintegrate.

BUT IN ASIA the prospects are very different and less favorable.

Our position in Asia is crumbling and this will continue unless, conceivably, the Chinese commit some act of folly which, like their aggression against India, frightens the nations of Asia.

The salvage of American interests in Asia will require a reappraisal and a revision of our strategic policy in Asia.

Cleanup Campaign Asked In Fairfax

Two groups of Fairfax citizens last night approached the Fairfax City Council for civic improvements in their residential areas.

Mrs. Wayne Remmer, speaking for Berry Trail residents, requested the city seek an easement on approximately 50 feet of the east end of Berry Trail, now blocked by locked gates.

Mrs. Remmer explained that the section was closed two years ago after it had been "opened for 40 years." She said 11 homes are blocked from adequate fire protection. The homes are only 50 feet off Wreden Avenue, but are blocked off by the gates, said Mrs. Remmer.

Mayor Kenneth M. Edgar said the gates are on private

Fairfax Has Big Heap Of Garbage Bills

Collecting garbage on Fairfax's hilly streets is a tough enough job, but collecting the bills is tougher, Rico Roffi told the Fairfax City Council last night.

Roffi, who had the Fairfax garbage pickup franchise, asked for city "law enforcement" to help him.

City Atty. Wallace S. Myers said he had tried. Roffi turned over to him "a file full of names" of residents delinquent on their garbage bills, said Myers. The attorney wrote them. They wrote back that Roffi had taken away paint cans without permission and done other things that Myers called "poor public relations."

Myers said Roffi's only recourse was small claims court. He offered to draw up the claims. Roffi said he would sign them.

Councilman Waldemar E. Radtke suggested, "Make the rate the same for everybody, whether he lives on a hill or on a level street," suggested Radtke. "That would cut down 95 per cent of the contention."

This is a California Division of Highways approximation of an alternate route for the Highway 101 freeway through Novato which has been urged by many Novato residents. The state pre-

Most Fairfax Employees Get $25 Pay Hike

All Fairfax city employees, except three, were given a $25-a-month pay boost by the Fairfax City Council last night.

Park maintenance man Russell A. Grasso and laborer William Oppelt, were given raises of $35 a month.

The third exception was city office assistant, Mrs. Julia Tartaull, whose hourly rate of pay was raised by 25 cents. She also will now be paid on all legal holidays, according to the motion passed unanimously.

No protests were written or voiced on assessments at the board of equalization hearing held by the city council before its regular business meeting.

The total assessment of property in the city for 1960, under county appraisal was $9,314,240, which was $733,260 more than last year's assessment.

Broken down, the assessment made on land was $2,874,540; on improvement, $6,447,460, and on personal property, $474,470; $482,230 in exemptions was taken into account in the final total.

A survey made by the U. S. Department of Interior in 1955 reveals that 8 per cent of all fishermen and 3 per cent of all hunters are 65 years of age or more.

$36,000 Suit Filed In Auto Death Of Wife

A damage suit asking more than $36,000 was filed yesterday by Novato attorney E. V. Grundstrom Jr. for Alan S. Flower, 64, former Novato resident now living in El Sobrante, Contra Costa County, for the death of his wife and injuries he sustained in a Highway 101 traffic accident last Oct. 12.

Named as defendants are T/Sgt. William Arthur Sleigh Jr., driver of a car which pulled out from Club Rio in an attempt to cross the highway and collided with a car in which the Flowers were passengers, and William C. and Patricia Sleigh, owners of the car driven by the sergeant. All three reside in San Francisco.

Mrs. May Flower, 52, died 21 days after the accident from a bowel obstruction and trauma caused by surgery, the suit said. The accident was a contributory cause, Grundstrom said. Flower suffered a severe scalp cut and multiple cuts and bruises. The couple, who formerly lived at 1637 Hill Avenue, Novato, were passengers in a car driven by Richard L. Beale of 314 Holly Avenue, Novato.

The damage suit asks for $10,000 for Flower's injuries, $25,000 for the death of his wife, $1,036 medical expenses plus costs of the suit.

Greenbrae Trailer Park Gets Planners' Approval

Plans for a "mobile home" far was complimentary to the Hutchinson Co.

The planning report said the plans were "far superior to the present minimal demands of the ordinance" as pertaining to layout, landscaping and buildings for trailer parks.

The proposed development on 16.2 acres, providing for 158 trailer sites, stems from a use permit granted on Oct. 13 of last year. A planning staff report on what has been done so

Gene Tierney Weds

ASPEN, Colo. (UPI)—Movie actress Gene Tierney and Texas oil millionaire W. Howard Lee honeymooned today at mountain hideaway.

Miss Tierney, 38, and Lee, 51, former husband of actress Hedy Lamarr, were married yesterday at Community Church here. No advance public announcement was made of the wedding.

Approval is subject to supervisor action July 19.

County Planners Endorse Ordinance For Excavation

An ordinance amendment providing comprehensive grading, excavation, drainage and erosion ordinance to fill deficiency of the present draft.

This developed when the supervisors first considered the draft last month before sending it to the planners for public hearing, and it resulted from a Mill Valley complaint about potential erosion trouble in Greenwood Highlands—partly within Mill Valley, partly in unincorporated area, where erosion could cause a flow of mud within Mill Valley limits.

Petrochemical Use Increases In U.S.

DALLAS, Tex. (UPI)—The petrochemical industry has expanded six times since World War II, the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas reports.

Petrochemistry, involving making chemicals from oil and natural gas, is estimated by the bank at a rate of 50 billion pounds valued at six billion dollars.

In 1945 production was only eight billion pounds with a value of less than a billion.

Mays, Banks, Law, Etc. Seek All-Star Sweep Tomorrow

KANSAS CITY (UPI) — Walter Alston, who feels he has Al Lopez' "number," planned today to "bomb" the American League again with Ernie Banks, Willie Mays and Vernon Law when they meet in 1960's second all-star game in Yankee Stadium tomorrow.

Banks and Mays did the hitting — and some pretty fancy fielding, too — as the National Leaguers beat the American Leaguers, 5-3, in the first All-Star game yesterday before a sellout throng of 30,619 in 100° degree heat.

Law helped, too, retiring the last two batters when the Americans threatened in the ninth.

"I wasn't too concerned," Alston explained. "I figured I couldn't go wrong with either of them."

He didn't when he chose Friend, 10-5 hurler for the Pirates. Friend yielded only one hit in his three innings stint — as long as a pitcher in All-Star team can go under the rules.

And while Friend was in there, Banks and Mays wrapped it up for him giving him his second All-Star victory against one defeat. He was the winning pitcher in 1956, the loser in 1958.

Lopez, who hasn't had much luck against Alston, wasn't sure who he would start for the American League tomorrow but admitted that southpaw Whitey Ford of the Yankees "could be a pretty good guess."

"I've been trying to beat Alston playing the percentages," said Lopez. "It hasn't worked.

Maybe now, at my third shot at him, I'll go against the book."

Lopez, manager of the American League Champion Chicago White Sox, lost the world series to the underdog Los Angeles Dodgers, piloted by Alston, last year, four games to two.

Now he's lost another to Alston.

"I don't aim to make it three in a row," said Lopez, "so I'm going to do a lot of thinking handed pitching might stop before I come to naming my starting pitcher. But I'd have to say I'm leaning toward Ford."

Lopez started right hander Bill Monbouquette of the Boston Red Sox yesterday because he didn't want a left hander throwing against the predominantly right-handed hitting power of the Nationals.

The left field fence at Kansas City's park is only 330 feet away and Lopez figured right home when Skinner rapped the first pitch to him into center for a single.

Monbouquette got the next two men, but then grooved one to Banks with the count two strikes and no balls. Banks tore into it and sent it over the "short porch" in left field for a home run.

The National made their lead 4-0 when Braves catcher Del Crandall also found that short porch range. Then in the third Banks led off with a double and eventually scored what turned out to be the National League's final run.

YANKS, BUCS 'IN'

Odds 4-1 Giants Won't Win Flag

NEW YORK (UPI) — Broadway odds-makers now rate the major league pennant races much the way political experts view the Democratic Convention: They think they're all over but the shouting. In short, the feeling along Broadway is that the New York Yankees and the Pittsburgh Pirates are "in."

The latest rundown, at the mid-point of the campaign, shows that both front-runners are odds-on to win the pennants. The Yankees are rated at 9 to 5 to win while the Pirates are tabbed at 4 to 1 to win.

The remaining American League odds are 8 to 5 that the Chicago White Sox do not win, 3 to 1 that the Cleveland Indians do not win and 6 to 1 that the Baltimore Orioles do not win.

In the National League, it's 2½ to 1 against both the Los Angeles Dodgers and the Milwaukee Braves and 4 to 1 that the San Francisco Giants don't make it.

THEY LOVE LEO

The odds-makers have hedged on only one point — they'll lay only 2½ or 3 to 1 odds against the Giants if Leo Durocher is appointed their manager within the next week or so. All of which demonstrates that the gamblers still love Lippy Leo even if Horace Stoneham isn't sure.

The two most significant features of the new "line" are the little respect shown for the Orioles and the surprisingly large amount allowed for the Dodgers. That 6 to 1 against the Orioles means the odd-makers are virtually writing them out of the race while the 2½ to 1 against the Dodgers means the 1959 miracle of Los Angeles is still fresh in their minds.

As usual, the odds-makers' "line" reflects very aptly the thinking of the neutral players themselves as regards the races.

Whatever may have been their troubles last year, it's clear that both the Yankees and Pirates have shaken them off. The Yankees have rebounded with a show of their old-time long-ball power and right now are the most dangerous offensive team in the game. The Pirates, with their air-tight defense and solid pitching, look like the sort of team that won't beat itself — a key factor in a close down-the-stretch race.

Camp Fire Candy Sale A Success

Over three quarters of a ton of peanut brittle candy was sold by Marin County Camp Fire Girls, Blue Birds, and Horizon Club girls and their leaders at the Art and Garden Fair. The girls worked in two hour shifts from 10 o'clock in the morning until 10 at night. Each shift was worked by a different group.

Many Fair visitors were fascinated by being able to watch the candy being made by a local candy maker on the spot. Camp Fire workers weighed, packaged, and sold the delicious ware.

The Camp Fire booth was planned and decorated by the Lucky Thirteen Horizon Club. Mrs. David Lapidus of San Anselmo, advisor, encouraged the girls to use their own initiative in planning and completing this important project. The girls chose the Caribbean theme and spent creative and industrious hours on the booth for the Fair.

The young ladies working on this Horizon Club objective in personality development were Nancy Ann Morey, Karen Kellam, Lyn Ballachey, Christine Skaer, Judith Hull, Sharlene Solini, Wendy Morris, Marian Massara, Letta May Chavez, Lucinda Lewis, Vickie Lloyd, Sharon Carter, and Vicki Brown.

Mrs. Frank Bowyer of Kentfield, chairman of the Fair project, and the entire Marin County Council of Camp Fire Girls, appreciated the generosity and acceptance of their product by the public.

Marin General League Chairmen Attend Workshop

A workshop recently welcomed the newly appointed chairmen of standing committees appointed by Mrs. Watson Conner, new president of the Marin General Hospital Service League.

Speakers were Mrs. Fred Drexler of Mill Valley, outgoing public relations chairman, S. Ames Pence, administrator of Marin General Hospital, Mrs. Frank Moore, director of volunteers and Mrs. Russell Chatham of San Anselmo, assistant director of volunteers.

Attending were officers of the Service League and new committee chairmen who are Mesdames Allan Gilman, San Rafael, baby photos; Arne Kioni, Kentfield, gift cart; Don Balensifer, San Rafael, coffee shop; James Dorais, San Rafael, television; Richard Bradley, Kentfield, radio and John Biggane of Mill Valley, book cart.

New public relations chairman is Mrs. John P. McFarland of Kentfield, a former president; Mrs. Charles Cooney of Kentfield heads the tours committee; Mrs. Robert Smith of San Rafael, recreational therapy; Mrs. Joseph Sheeks, Mill Valley, scholarship committee and Mrs. William Noon of San Anselmo will continue as editor of the Pink Sheet.

A group headed by Mrs. Kenneth Maxwell of San Anselmo will be in charge of the refreshment cart, a new service to both patients and visitors.

Bridge Club Plans Party Tomorrow

Eleven tables of bridge enthusiasts vied for honors at the regular Wednesday evening Marin Duplicate Bridge Club game held at the Jewish Community Center, Mission and Forbes Avenue in San Rafael.

Top Scorers for north-south were Dr. and Mrs. C. J. Crossley, Greenbrae; Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Myers, Kentfield; Florence Perrine, Mill Valley; and Marion Young, San Francisco.

Scoring honors for east-west went to George Baker, San Rafael; Larry Dearmond, San Rafael; Ed and Billie Zeisler, San Francisco; and Mary Smith and Audrey Donohue, Vallejo.

Tomorrow will be a special summer party with the addition of a door prize on the agenda. All players are welcomed to participate. The game starts at 8 o'clock at the Marin Jewish Community Center.

Attention Artists

More and more artists find plywood an excellent base for their paintings. They use 3/16" or 1/4" thickness—either the smooth or the screen side—first applying a prime coat of white paint. Paintings on this material will endure indefinitely. Frames may be applied readily.

NANCY EMERSON BECKWITH

NANCY BECKWITH WILL MARRY RICHARD MEAD ON AUG. 27

News of the engagement of Nancy Emerson Beckwith and Richard O. Mead was announced over the weekend by the bride-elect's parents, Mrs. Harriet E. Beckwith of Kent Woodlands, and S. Vilas Beckwith of San Francisco.

The couple has set Saturday afternoon, Aug. 27, for their wedding day. Holy Innocents' Episcopal Church will be the setting for the ceremony at which Rev. Tod W. Ewald will officiate. The reception will follow at the bride's home in Kent Woodlands.

Nancy arrives home Thursday from New York where she has been working in the art department of Vogue magazine since last fall. Her preparatory schools were the Katherine Branson School and St. Mary's-In-The Mountains, in Littleton, N.H. She attended the College of the Pacific before transferring to the University of California.

Dick, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sylvester W. Mead, of Davis, where the couple will make their first home, graduated from the University of California. He was affiliated with Alpha Delta Phi.

The future bridegroom served as an officer in the Navy for two years and is completing graduate work in physics at the Davis campus of U.C.

Planning to come from the East for the wedding are Nancy's aunt, Miss Evelyn Emerson of Brattleboro, Vt., and her cousin, Kenmore H. Emerson of New York City.

Scout Troop Holds Court Of Awards

A Court of Awards was held at the home of their leader, Mrs. Mollie Love, of Belvedere, by Intermediate Scout Troop 152. The members of the troop originally belonged to three separate troops on the Tiburon Peninsula. Troops 290, 164, and 152 joined together and have completed their Intermediate Scouting experience at Troop 152.

As the Scouts were all eighth graders, it was unusual for them to have earned each of the ranks in Girl Scouting.

Virginia Ness received her Tenderfoot rank, having recently joined the troop. Madeline Brewer, Demaris Hammond and Carol Heidelbach were awarded Proficiency badges, while First Class rank was attained by Barbara Balridge, Susan Lafferty, Mollie Love, and Roxane Neal. Scouting's highest award was earned by Peggy Mirata and Melinda Moore, who started together as Brownie Scouts, and Sandra Estudillo.

The term's activities included courses in first aid and good grooming, two overnight camping trips to Samuel P. Taylor Park, and a series of supper meetings during the winter and spring months. At one of these dinners, each girl prepared a special dish from the country of her family's ancestry, turning it into an "international affair." As two of the troop members had been Scouts abroad in Germany, Holland and Saudi Arabia, they were able to add much to the dinner's authenticity.

At least nine of the girls plan to continue on into Senior Scouting next term when they will enter high school.

BRUNCH FETES NEW ROSS CLINIC STAFFER

Doctors and Mesdames John C. Siemens and L. M. Griffin of Kent Woodlands entertained on Sunday at the Siemens home with a brunch honoring Dr. and Mrs. Edward McCrum.

Twenty-three guests enjoyed the brunch served on the patio.

Dr. McCrum recently joined the staff of the Ross Valley Clinic as a specialist in internal medicine. Dr. McCrum had his training at the University of California and at Dartmouth and served his residency at Bellevue in New York. He formerly practiced in Oakland.

Guests included Dr. E. Muriel Bennett and Drs. and Mesdames William Andrews, Duval Jaros, Hurlibut Lyman, William Manson, Clarence Lesko, Paul Sather and Bruce Manheim.

MRS. TERENCE JOHN BRISCOE, the former Sylvia Sukitch of Bethlehem, Pa. The recent marriage of the young couple was held in Santa Monica, where they will reside. Terry Briscoe, formerly of San Rafael, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Willard S. Briscoe of San Rafael.

Former Mill Valleyan Married In New York

The New York City Ballet added another married couple to those within its ranks when Joyce Feldman of New York City and Conrad Ludlow, formerly of Mill Valley, were married recently in Brooklyn.

The wedding took place June 3 in the presence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Feldman of Brooklyn, N.Y.

The young dancers (Joyce is 23, and Conrad is 25) left immediately for a month-long honeymoon in New England, briefly visiting various coastal resorts and staying for a longer time in the White Mountains of New Hampshire. Upon their return, they began rehearsals preceding the summer performances at Empire City, N.Y., Bear Mountain, Conn., Los Angeles (where the New York City Ballet will be performing at the Greek Theatre from July 25 to Aug. 6), and at Ravinia Park, Chicago.

Joyce, who kept up her classes at the School of American Ballet while finishing her high school and college education, spent a year abroad before joining the New York City Ballet in 1958, and she was with them on their eight-month tour of the Far East, and Australia. After an absence of seven months, she has recently rejoined the company.

Conrad, first male dancer with the San Francisco Ballet Company for three years, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Ludlow of Mill Valley, and the brother of Lynn F. Ludlow, now on the staff of the "Champaign-Courier" and living in Urbana, Ill., and Rodger D. Ludlow, 15, student at Tamalpais High School.

Conrad after serving with the armed forces, one year of which he spent with the Special Services in Korea, rejoined the New York City Ballet, participating in their winter and spring seasons, and has recently been promoted to the list of principal dancers of the company.

Mr. and Mrs. Ludlow will be at home at their New York apartment, which is situated one block from the School of American Ballet, following the summer tour.

MR. AND MRS. Charles Youngclaus are pictured at the Olde England Inn at Victoria, B.C. The couple was recently married in St. Joachim's Catholic Church in Madera.

The bride is the former Judy Russell of Madera. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Youngclaus of Fairfax.

Marin Scouts Find Adventure And Fun In Out-Of-Doors

Following the points of the compass, Marin Girl Scouts are finding adventure and fun in the out-of-doors.

When the members of Troop 147 decided to take a trip, they really traveled! Yosemite was their destination and the girls squeezed in as much sight-seeing as possible in a weekend.

Points of interest were Glacier Point, Happy Island, Mirror Lake, Half Dome, the museum, a hike to the base of Yosemite Falls, the Bridal Falls, the Fire Ball, a tour of the Indian caves and Village, and even a snowball fight—and in June! To complete their weekend, the scouts were up before dawn to watch the sunrise at Mirror Lake and had a swim in the cold Merced River. The seventh graders each earned the money for the camping trip and did all the cooking except for one dinner when two of their dads acted as cooks. Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Morgan and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Rubin accompanied the girls who attended Brookside School in San Anselmo.

Brownie Scout Troop 125 of Corte Madera chose Golden Gate Park in San Francisco for their last outing of the term. The third graders from Neil Cummins School were accompanied by Mesdames Albert De Mello, Joseph Pedone, Dean Short, and Philip Kearney. A visit to the Japanese Tea Garden and the De Young Museum ended the day after the girls enjoyed the playground facilities, a picnic, and Stow Lake, where they fed the ducks.

Kennedy Reception Scene Of Beauty On Floor And Ceiling

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Beautiful women ask for your credentials. Beautiful women invite you to register. Beautiful women throng the floor of the great ballroom.

Beautiful women also dance or pose in nothing or nothing at all on the ceiling.

Only those on the ceiling seem not to care who you are. You could be a delegate from "a key state." You could be John F. Kennedy himself or even his youngest and handsome brother, Ted. You could be the invisible man.

Their only concern, since they are creatures of paint merely figments of some Bachanal revel which surely never was, appears to be how to elude, or run afoul of, certain oddly contoured gentlemen with boatish legs.

One of the pink-fleshed nymphs on the ceiling seems to be gazing down with something like rapture at Senator Jack. But he, the cad, is gazing with another kind of rapture at real-life delegates, most whom appear to be saying words he is delighted to hear.

The scene is the ballroom of the Biltmore, headquarters hotel of the Democratic National Convention. The occasion is a reception for delegates by the young senator from Massachusetts.

What took place on the floor was a pale imitation of what was occurring on the ceiling.

For one thing, the pink non-alcoholic punch and sweet cookies served by the Kennedy clan obviously were less stimulating than the nectar and ambrosia on which the creatures of the ceiling had drunk and feasted.

On the floor everything was decorous, though amiable.

Three Kennedy sisters and a lovely sister-in-law of the candidate expended only a physician could guess how many foot-pounds of work in handshaking, autograph-giving, and chitchat-exchanging before Senator Jack himself appeared to take on the main burden.

But if the riot on the ceiling was wilder than the events on the floor, the beauty on the floor was by no means inferior to that on the ceiling.

Four years ago blonde Joan Bennett, New York debutante and graduate Cum Laude from Manhattan College, couldn't have cared less what was happening at the 1956 Democratic National Convention. She was off somewhere on vacation.

Now she's Ted's wife, and she couldn't care more.

She endured a thousand handshakes today and almost as many questions from society reporters.

How old are you? Twenty-three.

What, if a dope may ask, is the color of your frock and pumps?

Shocking pink! Whatever you call it, what Joan had on is almost precisely the color of the particularly ingratiating nymph in the more-or-less middle panel of the painting on the ceiling.

That is the nymph who seemed to be smiling down on Senator Jack. Did he notice? No.

He was wig-wagging to an aide and pointing toward his throat.

A few minutes later handshaking in abeyance for a moment, he was swilling a soft drink. From the look on his face, it might have been the nectar of the gods.

Wedding Separates

Wedding separates for fall are made to look exactly like traditional heirloom dresses for the wedding day. But later, the wedding dress top, worn with a short cocktail skirt, becomes a sophisticated late-day dress. The gowns, introduced by Ruth English of Rosette Pennington, come in three pieces.

Golden Star Committees Are Named

Golden Star Rebekah Lodge 112 IOOF of San Rafael held its regular meeting Thursday evening. Mrs. James Williams, noble grand, presided over the business meeting and named committees for the coming year.

They include Mesdames Harry E. Wall, Wayne Coen, and Nina Washburn, good will; Mesdames Kenneth Irwin, A. F. Da Silva, and James Rowe, United Nations pilgrimage in youth; Mesdames Ralph Stephenson, Lawrence Myers, and Elmer Kayser, heart.

Mrs. Nelle Merton, president of the Rebekah Assemblies of California, will visit the Rebekah Lodge's 305 regular meeting in the Odd Fellows Temple, Mill Valley, on Aug. 25. Committee for that evening from Golden Star Rebekah Lodge 112 will be Mesdames Mary Bruni, C. W. Iverson, and S. A. Beyer.

Guest at Thursday's meeting was Mrs. John Robertson, district deputy president of district 61 IOOF Rebekah Assembly of California. Mrs. Robertson was escorted to the seat of honor by Mrs. Kenneth Irwin, conductor of the lodge. Other guests were Mrs. Foster W. Lawrence, vice grand of Tamal Rebekah Lodge 393 IOOF, Mrs. Mabel Carlsen, past noble grand Acme Rebekah Lodge 32 of Portland, Ore., and Mrs. Da Silva, vice grand of Marin Lodge 200 IOOF.

An open installation of new officers was held on Monday evening and Rebekahs and families were invited. After the business meeting a travelog picture "From New York to Shanghai" was shown. The main hall and banquet room was decorated with international posters and flags. Mrs. Da Silva gave a short talk on independence and internationality.

Those on the committee were Mrs. Da Silva, chairman, and Mesdames Arthur Meyer, Victor Frizzi, R. L. Hook, Robert E. Hook, Mary Bruni, and Mr. Louis Wolfe, coffee maker. The Wolfes recently celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary.

State Parks, Forests To Host 30 Million Campers This Year

Over ten million women will take to the woods this summer representing a record-shattering female invasion into the man-world of outdoor camping.

Between now and Labor Day, state parks and forests from coast-to-coast will play host to more than 30 million campers and every third one will be a woman. Veteran sportsmen will have to push further back into the wilderness if they want to avoid the distaff deluge. By the same token this promises to be a banner year for liberating the American male from two weeks of shaving every day and counting one-two-cha-cha every night at some fancy resort.

A combination of economy, improved facilities and the fact that budget-minded homemakers now plan 85 per cent of all family vacations accounts for the outdoor recreation explosion. This year about 2½ million women will be camping with their families for the first time. If camping is a completely new experience to your family, here are some general guides.

First, start out simply in all directions. This includes everything from selecting equipment to choosing a camp site. Borrow what you can, such as cook stove, sleeping bags, cots and tent and begin with a few overnight outings in nearby state or national parks. There are 2300 state parks, 28 national parks in 25 states and 151 national forests in the U.S. with camp sites so it shouldn't be difficult to find a good spot within a reasonable driving distance of 100 to 150 miles.

If you find outdoor vacationing to your liking, there are two types to consider. The first is fixed camping, an extended stay of anywhere from a long weekend to a week in one spot; the second is touring-camping, a combination of camping and sightseeing at a variety of scenic areas.

Camping gear for a family of four costs about $300 at average prices but this amount spread over a number of trips over a period of years comes to only a few dollars per day of camping. Basic equipment includes:

1. One large or two small tents. Whichever you choose be sure the tent is high enough for the tallest member of the family to stand erect. A sewed-in groundcloth and mosquito netting for all tent openings are important for protection against moisture and insects. Sleepings bags and air mattresses or cots.

2. A two-burner solid or liquid gas stove, portable icebox, and cooking and eating utensils, which you can bring from home.

3. Flashlights, extra batteries and a good, battery-operated lantern for reading or eating after sundown.

4. First-aid kit and insect repellent.

Rainwear, fishing gear and games for the kids are a few of the optional items you should include for comfort and fun.

Campground facilities range from rudimentary water and sanitary conveniences to

Miss Keeton Will Marry In September

Mr. and Mrs. William O. Berkheiser of Tiburon announce the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Robert Ann Keeton, to Kenneth V. Alford of Yuma, Ariz.

The future bride is the sister of Marilyn, Patricia and David Berkheiser of Tiburon. Her grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Allen of Los Angeles. She is a graduate of Tamalpais High School and attended Arizona State College at Flagstaff, Ariz. and the University of California at Berkeley. She was president of Pi Alpha Tau, a women's service organization, and a member of Honor "T" Society, the California Scholarship Federation, Job's Daughters, and Bethel No. 119. She is presently employed at the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co.

Her fiance is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil E. Alford of Yuma, Ariz. and the brother of Harold Alford of Yuma and Mrs. Kent Gardner of Chickasha, Okla. His grandmother, Mrs. A. M. Morris, resides in Mesa, Ariz. He is a graduate of Yuma Union High School and attended Arizona State College and the University of Arizona. He is a member of Sigma Pi fraternity and a past master councilor of the Order of DeMolay in Yuma Valley. He is employed by the Southern Pacific Railroad.

The couple plan a Sept. 3 wedding at Christ Episcopal Church in Sausalito, after which they will reside in Tucson, Ariz.

Association To Hear Report On Therapy At Napa

Mrs. Jane Winthrop, regional director of The Fashion Group of San Francisco, an organization which is currently conducting a rehabilitation project among women mental patients at Napa State Hospital in cooperation with the San Francisco Assn. for Mental Health, a United Crusade agency, will be guest speaker at the American Business Women's Association dinner meeting, Monday, July 18.

Mrs. Winthrop will discuss the very encouraging work being done by The Fashion Group, made up of women executives in the fields of designing, manufacturing, editing and other phases of fashion, in its "Therapy of Fashion" experiment—a series of lectures given by top-notch designers, artists, couturiers, beauty experts, to the women patients at Napa, to help them improve their general appearance and give them a feeling of acceptability and self-esteem.

Several series of lectures have been given, as well as individual instruction in makeup, hair styling, how to design and make attractive clothes, how to walk, exercise, by experts in these fields—and the third "Therapy of Fashion" project will get under way at Napa on Aug. 2. In the previous two courses, each patient who took the course, was given a personal analysis of what styles and colors would be most becoming to her particular figure and coloring. At the end of each 3-week course, the patients, with the help of the professionals, chose styles they thought best suited to their particular figure and coloring, made their own dresses, and produced a fashion show for other patients. Twenty-seven of the 40 patients who took the first course wore dresses they had made themselves.

Mrs. Winthrop will illustrate her talk to the ABWA members with a group of slides taken at the hospital, which effectively illustrate the sequence of the course.

The dinner will be held at the Elks Club, 456 Post Street, San Francisco at 7 p.m., preceded by a social hour.

ABWA nationally numbers some 12,000 members, with 215 chapters in 45 states. Members work on community projects throughout the year, their principal project being a scholarship award to an outstanding business or professional woman, in need of financial help.

An Over-Sized Laundry Hamper Boon To Family

An over-sized laundry hamper is a boon in the family with children. Equipped with dividers allowing the homemaker to sort the linens and soiled clothing according to their textures, the hamper is a work saver. Because it is ventilated, there's little danger of clothes souring though they may be damp when tossed in.

Such a hamper, having a nine cubic foot capacity, can be built from common lumber and 1 $\frac{1}{2}$  panels of peg-board, plus nails and corrugated fasteners. A handy husband will enjoy putting together this useful equipment, following a plan that gives all the construction information with drawings and photos.

Besides its other features, this hamper is mobile on casters.

To aid the homemaker in remembering which of the three compartments is for certain items, the handy hubby can paint the fronts white, peach and red, or any color combination desired.

Framework to which the peg-board is fastened is on the hamper's exterior, so that only the smooth surface of the hardboard will touch the fabric. The perforated dividers, incidentally, simply lift out, should you want to use the hamper for other purposes.

The hamper's size is 3' long, 18" high, and 2' wide.

Senior Citizens Have Youthful Taste

"Old Rocking Chair's Got Me" has gone out of style with the elder set these days. Senior citizens, young in spirit, keep active longer and live more varied lives. This goes in their furniture tastes, too. Manufacturers, aware of the trend, style smart furniture for small apartment or one room living. Space-saving dual purpose, available in endless varieties, is becoming increasingly popular among this growing group of the population. With one or two simple foot or hand motions, the attractive sofa converts like magic into a luxuriously comfortable sleeping surface.

Traveling Press Board

On your next trip, tuck a handy pressing board in with your luggage. Quilted white cotton bound with bright tape can be used to cover a sturdy plywood base cut to the desired shape.

Dinner Time's The Family Life Gauge

By DOROTHY V. WHIPPLE, M.D.

"Dad, did you ever hear of a guy called Montezuma?" asked 12-year-old Ted as he slipped into his seat at dinner.

"You mean the emperor of the Aztecs," said Dad. "Yes, I've heard of him. What do you know about him?"

"Miss Sorbee said he was a very evil guy who sacrificed human beings."

"What's sacrificed mean?" piped up eight-year-old Alice.

"It means killed," said Mother. "We don't think it right to kill anyone but in long ago times some religions felt that their gods were pleased when a community gave one of its citizens to them."

"You know, Dad," went on Ted, "Cortez went into Mexico and killed a lot of Mexicans—doesn't strike me that was so right either."

"Maybe not, but that's what happens when one country conquers another."

And so the conversation went. Dad said there was a book in the other room about the Aztecs—they'd get it out after dinner.

Almost every night in the Waverly household, dinner-table talk was interesting. Somebody had something on his mind he wanted to tell the family. Often it had to do with something at school or something in the newspaper. Sometimes Dad had an experience at the office or had heard a good joke which he saved up for dinner time.

FAMILY CIRCLE
The Waverlys didn't have any real trouble with their children. It was a good family circle. They did a great deal of talking and most of the time the talk was fun.

The Restons talked a lot, too, but the general tenor of their conversation was griping. Dad told about the unfair, mean ways of his boss. Mother related how some woman in the supermarket tried to get ahead of her in line, or how her sister, Sue, was ruining her children.

The Reston children chimed in with tidbits about old lady sourface and her silly inquisitions at school. Mom and Dad criticized the world, so the children, taking this pattern from their elders, gave vent to similar bewilderment of their associates. This is not an atmosphere in which children will grow in popularity, either with their peers or their elders.

The Burns family, on the other hand, hardly talked at all at the dinner table. An occasional grunt which meant either yes or no and occasionally "please pass the bread" was about all that went on. Food was gulped down and the family left the table as soon as possible.

DEFINITE PATTERNS

A recent study of family dinner-table conversation by a University of Pennsylvania researcher showed that there were definite patterns and that each family pretty much repeated its own behavior over and over again.

Take a careful look and listen to your own dinner table. What sort of attitude toward life are you giving your children?

If you don't think too much of your own performance, set about to improve it. Get hold of a paperback book of jokes or short stories. Use them to get things going. Encourage the children to bring up interesting topics. If you don't know anything about a topic, let the children talk. Go read some of their textbooks and maybe some of the outside reading suggested to them.

Play a game at the table once in a while: "I'm thinking of something round and soft that begins with B."

Perk up your dinner-table talk and watch your children improve.

Stop Screen Scratching

Many a screen door has been ruined by a scratching puppy wanting to get in or out. Avoid screen repairs by protecting the bottom and sides with some plywood, nailed to the door framing. This durable paneling may be extended as high as necessary. Scratches won't show if the plywood is given a coat of penetrating sealer.

How To Care For Glassware

Well-designed glassware—whether it's a casserole or can-dela, salad plate or sugar bowl—is both pretty and practical. It's extremely durable and can take plenty of hard wear and survive.

Modern American-made cookingware needs no special pampering, but like all fine things, it responds to kind treatment. A little, simple care will keep it clear and shining as well as insure its long useful life. Here are tips on cleaning:

Fill glass cooking utensils with food or liquid before heating them. Never heat an empty utensil.

Grease baking dishes well before putting in food. This will make dishwashing easier.

Handle hot cooking ware with a dry cloth and never set hot dishes on a wet surface.

Never allow top of stove glassware to boil dry. Food cooks quickly in glassware, so it's best to use low to moderate heat.

Play a game at the table once in a while: "I'm thinking of something round and soft that begins with B."

Perk up your dinner-table talk and watch your children improve.

Eye To Color Can Pay Off For The Women

CHICAGO (UPI)—Women with an eye for color can make it pay up to $15,000 a year, according to Mrs. Betty Schoenberg, national color coordinator of a large mail order house's home furnishings lines.

Mrs. Schoenberg's job is to advise her company on what colors to feature in upholstery, rugs, draperies and accessories. To do this, she must keep abreast of the changing tastes of homemakers, yet be able to recognize a color trend from a

In Mrs. Schoenberg's case, this ability stems from a natural talent for choosing pleasing combinations of colors, plus both a college and professional education in art, architecture and the theories of color. She called a natural sense of color even more important than education in its use.

"You have to be able to judge color the way the homemaker does, with her eyes," Mrs. Schoenberg said.

According to Mrs. Schoenberg, there is an increasing number of jobs in her field, and women as well as men can get such jobs with furniture manufacturers, fabric and rug mills.

"But many of the opportunities in this field have to be made," she said. She suggested becoming an interior decorator as a start.

"After a decorating course in a home economics college or professional art school, go to work in a department store, Mrs. Schoenberg advised. She began her career arranging tables in a Chicago department store.

Proper Care Of Baby Teeth Vital To Child's Future Dental Health

"Our baby boy has four little white teeth," a mother writes, "and he is only one month old. The teeth make nursing painful, but we're proud of them."

"The baby next door is seven months old and hasn't a single tooth. We can't understand the difference. Is our baby precocious? How should we take care of his teeth?"

Your baby is unusual, but not freakish. The neighbor's baby is unusual in the opposite direction. Babies differ in all ways.

Teething is a long drawn-out process. Your little boy will fret. His gums will feel hot and hurt. One way to help him will be to get some soft teething rings. Keep them in the refrigerator. Let your baby chew on the cold rings when he wants to.

If you can't get the teething rings, use small rubber toys. Keep them clean, of course.

Your son's second teeth started developing before he was born. His baby teeth will have much to do with their proper growth, so you shouldn't neglect them. Have a dentist see him every year or so. Brush his teeth regularly. When he is 18 or 20 months old, he can take over the job.

Look for dark spots that don't wash away. They may be decay. If you find spots, take him to the dentist.

Your boy's diet is important to his teeth. Ask your doctor about it. Give him plenty of minerals, vitamins, and so on. Candy, soft drinks and other sweets are bad. They cause decay.

Is your drinking water fluoridated? It should be. The right amount of fluorine in the water hardens children's teeth and prevents decay. You can buy bottled fluoridated water in most of the places where the regular water is not treated.

READERS' FORUM

(Q) "We were told not to teach our boy to read. He is almost six. Why shouldn't we teach him ourselves?"

B. G.

(A) Reading is a very complicated process. A few mistakes at the start may handicap him for years. His first grade teacher is trained for the job. You aren't. Let her do it.

Palo Alto Gets Industrial Plan At Bayshore Site

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Utah Construction and Mining Co. today proposed a cooperative development of a $6 million dollar industrial community by Utah Construction and the city of Palo Alto.

In a proposal submitted at the request of the Palo Alto City Council, the company offered to reclaim approximately 600 acres of city-owned baylands east of Bayshore Freeway for industrial and recreational development.

Under the plan, the property would be developed to provide some 300 acres of building sites for quality research and industrial firms, including a 50-acre commercial-professional area near the freeway.

An 80-acre, nine-hole golf course, a series of landlocked lagoons, streets and drainage facilities would utilize the balance of the area.

Utah Construction offered a purchase price of $2,000 an acre, plus 50 per cent of the profit from the sale of developed industrial land.

Birthday Helps Memory On Tax

LINCOLN, Ill. (UPI)—Bert Leonard celebrates two important events the same day each year.

On his ninetieth birthday, he stopped at the Logan County courthouse and paid the 1960 levy on his property.

"As a person gets older, his memory gets shorter," he quipped, "but it looks like we'll never get through paying taxes."

Curious Motorist Causes Own Arrest

PENSACOLA, Fla. (UPI)—Call it compassion, curiosity or whatever—it was costly for Collis Rhodes.

Police Sgt. Harvey Jackson says he was enroute to an accident when Rhodes drove past in a reckless manner. But Jackson couldn't give chase.

Rhodes, however, also became interested in the accident. He circled the block and drove to the wreck scene, where Jackson promptly arrested him. Rhodes was fined $100 and costs for drunken driving.

Prohibition Party Fading In California

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The only political party now sharing the state ballot with Democrats and Republicans is going through what may be one of its last election campaigns in California.

Last year the Legislature saved the Prohibition Party by lowering ballot qualifications—requiring a party to pick up at least 2 per cent rather than at least 3 per cent of the vote in a gubernatorial election.

But the 1959 Legislature also abolished cross-filing, thus prohibiting candidates from crossing party lines. This is what probably will put the Prohibition Party out of the election business after the 1962 gubernatorial election.

This is because during the days of cross-filing, many Democrats and Republicans filed for and won the nomination of both major parties in the June primary election, and so faced no opposition in the November run off.

The Prohibitionists would then put up candidates against one or two of the unopposed major party candidates. The Prohibition candidates would pick up a protest vote from those who didn't feel like casting a rubber-stamp vote for the unopposed major party candidate.

But in the next gubernatorial election, Prohibitionists will be denied this opportunity to get a protest vote. With cross-filing out, there's sure to be contests for all major state offices.

Thus Prohibitionists will have to depend on their own party members to pull at least 2 per cent of the election vote to qualify the party for another four years on the ballot.

The number needed should be around 100,000, and at last count there were no more than 5,000 registered Prohibitionists in California.

And better than 2 cents of that sugar price is the difference between the government-controlled price here and what sugar sells for on the world market outside the United States. Here the raw sugar price now is around 5½ cents a pound but going as high as 6½ cents where duty also is paid. The raw sugar price outside the United States has ranged recently just above or below three cents a pound.

This spread is unrefined sugar as it comes from the mills runs into big money when American refiners buy some three million tons a year from Cubans and some six million pounds from all other sources.

That spread between world sugar prices and the price set here is what is referred to as the sugar subsidy. The same differential, varying in some instances due to U.S. tariffs and shipping costs, applies to all sugar raised either at home or abroad.

Last week's trimming of the U.S. quota of sugar from Cuba is primarily a political matter rather than economic. But the U.S. quota system was originally set up in 1934, largely for economic reasons, with international politics in a secondary role.

The price in the United States today isn't set by outright price controls but by a sugar quota system aimed at tailoring supply to demand.

The U.S. Department of Agriculture is instructed to cut the amount of raw sugar that can be brought here when prices drop below a level deemed reasonable. This lowers the supply and perks up prices.

Also under the law the department lowers the amount refiners and dealers can buy when the price here drops more than is deemed desirable. This pinch on supplies causes a price rise.

You, Not Government Pay Sugar Premium

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (UPI)—You pay the premium on Cuban sugar, not your government.

The grocery price of sugar—higher here than elsewhere in the world—is based on what U.S. sugar importers, refiners and distributors pay to sugar growers, millers and shippers, whether they be Cubans, Filipinos or Americans.

The premium—which isn't paid to the foreign government as such in checks from the U.S. Treasury—comes about this way:

The current price of granulated white cane sugar at the store is around 14 cents a pound. Part of that is the cost of distribution and handling, which is higher than it once was. Part is the cost of refining, also higher than formerly. Part is the cost of buying and shipping the raw sugar.

And better than 2 cents of that sugar price is the difference between the government-controlled price here and what sugar sells for on the world market outside the United States. Here the raw sugar price now is around 5½ cents a pound but going as high as 6½ cents where duty also is paid. The raw sugar price outside the United States has ranged recently just above or below three cents a pound.

This spread between world sugar prices and the price set here is what is referred to as the sugar subsidy. The same differential, varying in some instances due to U.S. tariffs and shipping costs, applies to all sugar raised either at home or abroad.

FORMER KOREAN OFFICIALS ON TRIAL

Handcuffed and roped together, officials of the ousted Syngman Rhee government leave court in Seoul, South Korea. The defendants, wearing white robes, Korean symbol of contrition, are among the 86 persons who will be brought to trial for acts committed during the last days of the Rhee regime. At right is Han Hi-Suk, former vice speaker of the assembly, and third from right is Choi In-Kyu, former home minister. (AP Wirephoto)

TV Science Award Winner To Be Speaker

Benjamin Draper of Mill Valley, executive producer of the television department of the California Academy of Sciences will be the speaker at Thursday's "Dollars for Drake" dinner at the Wye Club in San Rafael.

Draper, together with Fleet Adm. Chester W. Nimitz, and Adolph S. Oko, of Point Reyes Station, won the 1957 Westinghouse Award for the Science in Action TV show, "Drake in California."

The dinner is being held under auspices of the Marin Visitors Bureau of the Greater San Rafael Chamber of Commerce, as the first of several special events toward raising $15,000 to purchase a bronze reproduction of a famous statue of Sir Francis Drake, who visited what is now Marin County in the summer of 1579.

Mrs. Esther Dearth, chairman, says the $10-a-plate event is intended to raise necessary initial funds for a six-month campaign which will begin this fall.

Mrs. Ellen Martinelli of the Credit Women's Breakfast Club is chairman for the dinner. Reservations may be made with the Marin Visitors Bureau.

Hamilton Band To Serenade Royalty

The 573rd Air Force Band at Hamilton Air Force Base will serenade Danish royalty this month in Thule, Greenland.

It will be the first time the 26-man band has left the United States. Band members will take off from Hamilton July 27 and play at an Air Force reception July 31 for King Frederik, Queen Ingrid and Princess Margrethe at Thule Air Force Base.

The band also will play for a dance on the base, with the few nurses stationed there as dancing partners, Hamilton officers explained.

Leader of the band is M/Sgt. Joseph Cruz, 640 San Jose Boulevard, Raphael Village.

Inverness Water System Purchased By Nation-Wide Utility Concern

The Inverness Water Co. changed hands today.

Citizens Utility Co. of Stamford, Conn., a nationwide firm took over operation of the 60-year-old water system from Larry Marks of Inverness.

Marks has sold the water company and about 190 acres of watershed property, including some in Sea Haven, to the Connecticut firm and retained

Woman Injured In Sausalito Mishap

A young San Francisco woman was seriously injured Sunday in Sausalito when her northbound car crossed the center line on Bridgeway Boulevard near Nevada Street, and smashed head on into a southbound car driven by a Mill Valley man.

Patricia Coley, 25, suffered fractures of both legs, multiple cuts and bruises when she was thrown from her small foreign convertible as it collided with a 1951 sedan driven by Richard A. Simmons, 34, of 110 Sycamore Avenue, Mill Valley. She was reported in satisfactory condition at Marin General Hospital yesterday.

Simmons told police he was traveling between 35 and 40 miles per hour about 7:21 a.m. when he saw the Coley car cross the white line in front of him. He said he swung to the left but could not avoid the collision.

He said it had taken him 29 months to put the water system in shape so that it was salable.

He has been operating it for 18 months, and it took 11 months before that to get the about 180 acres for himself, he said today.

necessary easements and rights of way and permission from the Public Utilities Commission.

Marks purchased the separate water systems of Inverness and Sea Haven and combined them into one for more efficient operation.

Citizens Utility indicated to Marks that it intends to improve the system and join the Sea Haven and Inverness systems physically, something Marks had planned to do, he said.

"These people recognize the system is old and a lot has to be done," he said.

Marks said he has no plan at present for use of the land he retained. Inverness residents can "rest assured" they will be protected by Citizens Utility, the state and county health departments, he said.

The land he has retained ownership of is far enough away so that it will not interfere with the water supply, Marks added.

He had no comment on reports from Inverness residents that a road apparently was being planned on his property.

"We hope so," said Smith.

Strawberry Play Area To Be Moved

Authorization to change the location of the Strawberry Recreation Area was voted by the Marin County Planning Commission yesterday in the course of considering several matters of Tiburon interest.

The area is now located south of the Golden Gate Baptist Seminary but in keeping with past discussion, it will now be placed farther north and near Tiburon Boulevard on a former parochial school site.

In this connection the commission finally brought to a head the issue of whether there would be alternative road systems, or revision of existing systems, both in the vicinity of the recreation area and near the Rolling Hills and Marinero subdivisions — with a decision summed up by Commissioner Margaret Azevedo as "the obvious thing to do is nothing."

This followed recommendation of the Tiburon Coordinating Council.

The commission was advised that the council had just met and voted to recommend no change on the master plan for roads, instead waiting for further developments and watching to see that roads are continued straight through without dead-ending.

Consideration began on possible amendment to the Tiburon Master Plan to establish location and standards of design and improvement of bus stops on Tiburon Boulevard, including pedestrian access. But after discussion this was continued to July 25.

Residents have asked some action due to concern that present California Division of Highways plans don't include provision for bus stop facilities and pedestrian access, the planning staff agreeing that "buses are a legitimate highway use" as planner David Van Pelt put it.

State plans for Tiburon Boulevard should be finished by this fall, Preston Smith of the San Francisco Division of Highways office told the commission. But if bus stops are to be provided, he said, additional right of way must be acquired.

Much of the necessary property acquisition for a wider roadway has already been acquired, said Smith. He indicated that the statutes must be changed for compliance with latest ideas, "by the 1962 legislature probably."

"By that time you'll be started on the road, won't you?" asked Commissioner Margaret Azevedo.

"We hope so," said Smith.

CORN-VENTION TIME FOR PUSS 'N BOOTS

Three-month-old kittens owned by Mr. and Mrs. Kyle Collins of Tampa, Fla., converge on an ear of corn with gusto. They developed their odd appetite for corn-on-the-cob when they were two months old. Puss and Boots are fed a regular diet of cat food but consider their corn a perfect way to top off a meal. (AP Wirephoto)

Drag Racers Hurt In Car Collision

Three airmen from Hamilton Air Force Base were injured Sunday night in what base officials said was a drag race at Cotati.

A/2 Daniel G. Moen, 21, El Cajon, and A/3 Larry E. Theyer, 22, Newport News, Va., were in Letterman Hospital in San Francisco yesterday with head injuries, cuts and bruises. Driver of the car in which they were riding, A/1 James W. Hurt, 23, Washington, D.C., was treated at Sonoma County Hospital. All are with the 78th Field Maintenance Squadron at Hamilton.

California Highway patrolmen reported Hurt and Noel A. Riggs, Santa Rosa, apparently were drag racing just outside Cotati at 11:30 p.m. when their cars collided.

Cooler, Still

TULSA, Okla. — George Dexter petitioned district court to annul his "marriage" to a girl named Rose. Dexter, a bachelor, said in 1919 he and Rose filled out an application for a marriage license. However, he didn't have the cash and he returned to his Army camp. Then Rose's love cooled and the marriage didn't come off.
